

Eclipse of Decay - Bio

Eclipse of Decay is a violent presence in the death/slam metal underground, conceived to distill pure aggression and ceaseless heaviness into each riff, blast, and guttural cry. Rising from the Swiss metal scene's depths, the band unleashes a devastating union of slamming brutality and death metal mayhem, their lyrics awash in decay, nihilism, and graphic horror.

The lineup consists of dual guitarists Raffaello Ratti and Denis Petkovic—with Denis also handling vocal duties—crafting walls of dense, bone-shattering riffage. Damiano Palmeri brings relentless precision and violence behind the drum kit, while Alessandro Franzoni anchors the low end with punishing bass tones that shake the earth.

Eclipse of Decay is here to push the limits and destroy expectations, meshing groove-infused slams, technical brutality, and atmospheric terror. On stage or in the studio, they're always striving for complete sonic devastation.

Eclipse of Decay is not simply a band. It's a reflection of what lies beneath the surface, a soundtrack for the words that we dare not speak, and a voice for the darkness that lies within us all.
